

Methodist Appointments Are Listed

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The 110th annual Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church ends today with the announcement of pastoral appointments.

Wednesday the conference ordained 24 deacons and elders, and completed a list of 12 delegates to jurisdictional conferences at Pittsburgh Pa. and Dallas, Tex. Ten of the delegates had been named Tuesday.

The conference also retired four ministers Wednesday — Guy C. Omer of Lake Village, with 41 years of service; John B. Hesley of Pine Bluff, 32 years; George E. Reutz of Grady, 30 years and J. W. Workman, Scott, 39 years.

Named delegates to the jurisdictional meetings were Rev. Ray C. Hozendorf of El Dorado and Rev. D. Mouzon Mann of Arkadelphia.

The 12 deacons ordained Wednesday night were Larry S. Nicholson and Rodney W. Nicholson of Magnolia who are brothers; Mrs. Stephanie Rye of Mena, Harry H. Bowman of Kingsland, Welcome Burleson of Emerson, Albert M. Elder of Bearden; John J. McKnight of Huttling, Calvin L. Miller of Bingen, J. K. Shambling Jr. of Little Rock, Darrell Van Smith of Hot Springs, Charles O. Walhall of Buckner and Warren B. Whitcomb of Camden.

Car Overturns, Youth Unhurt

About 10 o'clock last night an auto driven by Al Weisenberger apparently went out of control on a curve and overturn on Highway 29 just beyond the city limits near the Highway 32 intersection. Neither Weisenberger nor Bobby Mitchell, 21 passenger, were seriously injured. They were taken to a local hospital for a checkup by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance and released. The car was badly damaged.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—The number of suspected cholera cases in Malaya passed the 400 mark today.

Health officials pressed a nationwide inoculation program. There have been 12 deaths.

2 Firms Told to Stop Water Pollution

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two Arkansas firms were ordered Wednesday to cease discharge of a type of acid into Bayou Meto and Little River.

The Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission ordered Dierks Forests Inc. of DeQueen and Hercules Powder Co. of Jacksonville to submit preliminary plans within 120 days for treatment facilities to halt flow of the acid into the two streams.

Dierks Forests is on Little River and Hercules on Bayou Meto. The action came at a meeting called after a study and hearings on pollution of the streams.

Commission Director Marvin Wood said construction on the treatment facilities is to begin as soon as a permit is issued by the commission.

The two companies have been working on the problem for over a year, the commission said. Each produces a rare phenolic type of acid not strained out in normal treatment facilities.

The commission order noted that five pounds of the acid get into each one million pounds of water. Many fish have been killed in the streams, the commission said.

U.S., Mexico May Settle Border Fuss

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top American officials said today good progress is being made toward settlement of 50-year-old border dispute with Mexico.

Despite the progress, however, these sources said there was no prospect of negotiating a mutually satisfactory solution to the squabble before President Kennedy travels to the vicinity of the disputed territory next Wednesday.

Neither, they said, was there any chance of a meeting at that time between Kennedy and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, even though the American chief executive will be just a river bank away from Mexican soil.

The source of the border trouble is 450-acre area which the United States claimed as part of El Paso, Tex., when the Rio Grande, the traditional border between the neighboring countries, abruptly changed course early in this century.

A White House announcement Tuesday that Kennedy would spend the night of June 5 in El Paso led to speculation in some circles that a settlement of the territorial question was imminent.

However, it was learned on very high authority, that despite progress no settlement was possible by then.

At one point, there were reports that Lopez Mateos would be in Juarez, Mexico—just across the river from El Paso—on June 5. However, Mexican officials said Wednesday night that this was not true; that Lopez Mateos will be in Jalisco Province at the time. The capital of the province is Guadalajara, some 750 miles from El Paso.

Sees Government as Big Threat

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gerald L. Andrus, president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., parent firm of Arkansas Power & Light Co., told 119 Little Rock University graduates Wednesday night that big government threatens their future.

He said the "ever-growing, ever-expanding government" is limiting "liberty and freedom of choice of the individual citizen."

"Americans will never accept socialism in one dose," Andrus said. "But they are taking it now, bit by bit, step by step. Many seem unaware that our freedoms are interdependent."

Jonesboro Annex Bids Accepted

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A low bid of $721,000 for construction of a three-story annex to St. Bernard's Hospital at Jonesboro has been entered by P. W. Jameson of Memphis. Jameson was also low on an alternate bid for a four-story annex, should officials decide it is needed.

1st Assembly to Start on New Building

The banquet which was held in Fellowship Hall of First Assembly of God last week was a great success. One of the largest crowds in recent years attended the banquet and business meeting which followed.

A vote of confidence was given to the Building Committee, when the church accepted the proposed plan for the new church building which was presented, and authorized the security of a loan in the amount of $85,000 to be used for the erection of the new building.

Rev. B. J. Whitte, pastor of the church said, "It is expected that work on the new building will begin within the next six to eight weeks."

Quiet Restored to Almo, Calif.

ALAMO, Calif. (AP)—With nerve-shattering irregularity, an elephant's trumpet would cut through the peace and quiet of this village in Oakland's outer ring of suburbia.

This not only jolted Mrs. Allen Rhodes, it stampeded her 10 head of Arabian breeding horses, she complained to the sheriff Tuesday. And there's no good reason for it, she added.

Deputies discussed the elephant trumpeting with the owner of the wild animal menagerie on property adjoining that of Mrs. Rhodes.

The elephant was moved into a barn. The horses have calmed down. Quiet has been restored to Alamo.

Memorial Day Death Toll Climbs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The toll of dead in Memorial Day traffic accidents rose slowly today.

At 11 a.m. 38 fatalities were reported. Most of the accidents caused only one death each.

But five persons perished in the head-on collision of a semitrailer truck and a pickup truck on U.S. 89 near Glendale, Utah.

The highway patrol said Samuel Garnett Brown, driving the pickup truck. They were Brown, a north-bound vehicle, saw the south-bound semitrailer and pulled off the road. So did the semitrailer driver, Oday Vogelmann.

The pickup truck went under the semitrailer, burned and exploded.

All the victims were in the pickup truck. They were Brown, who was observing his 21st birthday; his wife, Sandra, 22; a daughter, Michele, 2; and Mrs. Brown's sister and brother, Linetta Jeppson, 8, and David Jeppson, 18.

The Browns lived in Richfield, Utah.

Vogelmann, 40, El Paso, Tex., was not hurt.

Dry weather, favorable for motoring and often temptation to speed, prevailed in most areas of the nation on the first holiday of the warm season.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 90 and 130 persons will be killed in traffic accidents in the period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and will end at midnight today.

Arkansas Has Had 2 Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas recorded only two traffic fatalities during the first six hours of the nationwide Memorial Day holiday death count, but five persons died violently Wednesday in the state.

The death count began at 6 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sherlock of Bryan, Tex. were killed on Highway 7 near Leslie Wednesday night when the brakes failed on the pickup truck they were in and it broke loose from a trailer house and plunged down a 75-foot embankment.

Sheriff Beal Sutherland said the 32-foot trailer overturned in the highway as the truck was about halfway down a mountain road. Sherlock, 58, and his wife, in her 50s, were on their way to Arlington, Tenn. to visit relatives, officers said.

Gerald Slaughterbeck, 22, of Hot Springs was killed when the car he was riding in missed a curve in the Social Hill community near Malvern early Wednesday and wrecked. Raymond O. Hugen of Hot Springs, driver of the car, was not hurt. Deputy Sheriff Jim Collier.

The body of William Hackney, 67, found floating in the Ouachita River at the bottom of a 75-foot cliff Wednesday. Sheriff Jim Green said Hackney, of the Washington community near Mount Ida, apparently fell from the cliff early Wednesday morning.

E. B. Hicks of Sear was burned to death when his frame home caught fire. Authorities said Hicks was alone in the house when the fire broke out.

Negroes Plan More Activity in Jackson

By BEN THOMAS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Integrationists planned to step up demonstrations in this Mississippi capital city today even though police promised to continue their policy of instant arrests.

"We're not going anywhere but down on Capitol street," a Mississippi leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People told 600 cheering Negroes Wednesday night at a rally.

Mississippi does not observe Memorial Day. Stores will be open today.

Nineteen persons were jailed in four demonstrations Wednesday.

It brought to 27 the number of arrests since picketing and sit-in demonstrations started here Tuesday.

Two white youths were hurt Wednesday night when Negroes tossed bricks through the windshield of their car in a Negro section. But there was no violence during daytime demonstrations.

The previous day a mixed group which tried to desegregate a lunch counter was attacked.

Thronging of white persons gathered on Capitol street—the main thoroughfare—when he first six pickets appeared Wednesday. A few white youths stepped in front of the pickets and attempted to halt them. Otherwise there were no incidents.

Demonstrators arrested for picketing were charged with displaying a placard without a permit—a new city law. When their City Court trials began Wednesday afternoon, Jack Young, a Jackson Negro attorney, contended the new law was unconstitutional.

City Court Judge James Spencer delayed the trials for one week and directed Young to file a brief on his claim.

Homage Paid to Submarine Dead

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—This old Navy port pays homage today to 129 men lost seven weeks ago aboard the nuclear submarine Thresher and to 26 who died in 1939 in the Squalus.

Bell Rewards an Honest Girl

MADISON, N.J. (AP)—When 10-year-old Allison Grimes stepped into a telephone booth to call her mother last week, she found it littered with nickels, dimes and quarters, all spilling over from a coin return slot.

Allison scooped up $6.30 worth of change. Then, after dialing the operator, she fed it back to the phone company.

Allison got a luncheon and a tour of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company exchange at Morristown Wednesday as a reward for her honesty.

Spy Scandal Brings Red Demotions

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—The scandal of a western spy in the Soviet secret archives broke out anew today with the demotion of a former artillery marshal and new attacks on the U.S. and British embassies.

Sergey Sergeevich Varentsov, 62, Soviet marshal of artillery until 1961, was reduced in rank for having opposed separation of Oleg Penkovsky from the army and for pushing him into a job in the state committee on coordination of scientific research.

From that committee, it was testified in a trial early this month, Penkovsky poured 5,000 photographs of secret documents into British and U.S. intelligence. For that crime Penkovsky was shot May 16.

A British businessman, Groville Wynne, 44, was sentenced to eight years confinement for helping deliver the espionage material.

The announcement of punishment for those involved one way or another with Penkovsky was made in the government newspaper Izvestia in an interview with the prosecutor at the trial.

The prosecutor, Lt. Gen. Artem Gorny, said the marshal was reduced in rank and Major Gen. A. Pavlov, Col. V. Buzinov and others were demoted and punished. The nature of the punishment and demotion was not given.

Western embassies, particularly U.S. and British, were accused again of espionage, an activity which Soviet officials almost never admit.

Gorny said British and U.S. intelligence services "use for their espionage activities members of various delegations, scientists, businessmen, cultural figures, students and tourists who come to our country."

Americans in Tribute to the War Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With gratitude to her war dead, and in loving memory of all her deceased loved ones, the nation today marks another Memorial Day—with its roots of observance now dating back exactly 100 years.

President Kennedy lays the presidential wreath on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery. And old soldiers, young soldiers and just plain citizens conduct ceremonies in most every city, town and hamlet.

In addition to wreath-laying rites are the parades, speeches and gunfire salutes. For millions of Americans it also is a day of rest, and for other millions it means the start of a long weekend holiday.

Most historians agree that the holiday dates to April 1863, when several women at Columbus, Miss., scattered spring flowers on graves of Confederate and Union soldiers.

At Rindge, N.H., ground-breaking ceremonies are scheduled for a memorial bell tower to honor all women war dead.

In Albany, N.Y., Harry M. Startup, 82, a Spanish-American War veteran, leads the city's parade. It is Startup's third time to serve as grand marshal.

At Fort Banks in Winthrop, Mass., Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's mother, takes part in ceremonies naming three streets in honor of fallen servicemen, including her son, Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., who died in World War II.

The President, after his wreath-laying at Arlington, flies by helicopter to Camp David, the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland, for lunch, and then back to the White House for some office work and a little relaxation on the holiday.

Adv for 11 am EST today

At Arlington, President Kennedy was joined by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who in a prepared speech reminded all Americans that "we are leaders in a tense world who must meet serious issues with a calm, sober sense of responsibility."

Pointing out the tensions created by the Communists throughout the globe, Taylor paid tribute to the Americans lost in

North Also Has Racial Troubles

By H. L. SCHWART III
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Picket line violence in the city of brotherly love, prompted by Negroes' demands for the right to join labor unions, may have spawned a mass assault on segregation barriers all across the North.

Demonstrations which started peacefully two weeks ago with a sit-in in the mayor's office erupted into violence for the second time Wednesday.

Ten persons were hurt as pickets, laborers and police clashed at the North Philadelphia site of a $6-million school project.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, prime mover in the local demonstrations, has charged labor unions with failing to hire non-white skilled workers. The unions have denied it.

After Wednesday's outbreak during which massed police faced as many as 500 pickets, national officers of the NAACP wired support of local leaders and promised an all-out effort to break down labor segregation barriers in other cities.

Herbert Hill, national NAACP labor secretary, said in New York demonstrations will begin very soon in such cities as New York, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and St. Louis.

Negro ministers in Philadelphia joined demonstrations for the first time Wednesday. Two of 15 at the school site were hurt but not seriously.

During the morning, the ministers spoke to the crowd over a loudspeaker and said that Sunday they will call from their pulpits for a demonstration Monday that will be the largest this city has ever seen or that ever has been staged north of the Masons Dixon Line.

They estimated 20,000 to 200,000 will turn out.

Phillip Savage, a local officer of the NAACP, said picket lines probably will be thrown around all city projects, with state and federal projects to follow if the matter isn't settled soon.

Nearo Gets Death in Fatal Stabbing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Johnson, 19-year-old Negro charged in the fatal stabbing of Mrs. W. F. Arrington last July 31, was convicted Wednesday and his punishment set at death in the electric chair.

A Pulaski Circuit Court jury deliberated one hour and 15 minutes before returning the verdict.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby gave the defense 45 days to file a motion for a new trial. Johnson will be sentenced at the end of that time, he said.

Mrs. Arrington, 55, was stabbed to death in her combination grocery store-service station in the Rixey community northeast of North Little Rock. She was robbed of $48.

Johnson testified he confessed to the crime to get his name in the newspapers and denied he killed the woman.

The two asked Mobley this week to file similar action against Jack Bland, Dr. Jack Mobley, Freddie Moll and Forrest Newkirk, contending that they also did not state positions in qualifying for their posts.

ZIP!

Neither snow, nor rain, nor sleet is going to stay Uncle Sam's postal service from adding a new number to your collection of license, Social Security, hospitalization, house, phone and other vital, workaday numbers. • Come July 1, you'll have a "ZIP" number. Purpose: to speed the mails. At first, numbers will be used by large users of mail. • All the Post Office hopes that you will do, at first, is to include YOUR Zip number in your return address on mail you send out. The big firms will take it from there. • Some day, the hope is that electronic machines will sort mail by Zip number. • By July 1, post office hopes to have directories printed from which you can determine your Zip number and the number of the post office of address, to speed your mail. • Quick way to find your Zip number: ask the mailman.

Justice Raps Lawyers Over Amendment

EDITOR'S NOTE Chief Justice Earl Warren has called for a great national debate on three proposed constitutional amendments. In this last of three articles, Associated Press staff writer Stanley Meisler discusses the two amendments aimed at Warren's Supreme Court.

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren has chided America's lawyers for their silence about three proposed constitutional amendments.

Warren's irritation is not surprising. Two of the amendments are aimed right at his court.

"For the bar of America to be as inactive as it has been in this situation," he said recently, "is almost an abdication of its responsibility to the public."

As head of the Supreme Court, Warren did not take a position on the amendments, but he clearly was concerned that, with little or no debate, 16 state legislatures had approved at least one of the three amendments.

If any amendment wins support from 34 states, Congress must call a national convention to accept or reject it.

The proposed amendments would:

- 1. Make it possible for the states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments completely on their own.
- 2. Wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in the state legislatures.
- 3. Make it possible for certain decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court to be overruled by a states-controlled "Court of the Union."

The first amendment generally would help the cause of states rights, but the other two, while also concerned with states rights, directly touch the heart of the Supreme Court.

The amendment about legislative apportionment, in fact, would reverse a historic decision of the court in March 1962.

In the decision, the court ruled that citizens could seek relief in federal courts when unequal representation of state legislatures violated their constitutional rights. This was a blow to many rural-dominated legislatures that had refused to reapportion themselves to meet population changes of the 20th century.

The proposed amendment would say, first, that no provision of the Constitution can restrict the apportionment of a state legislature, and, second, that the federal courts have no jurisdiction over any suit relating to the apportionment of state legislatures.

Speaker Robert D. Hesse of the Wisconsin House says that nothing short of this amendment can stop the federal government from interfering in reapportionment — which he considers a basic right of the states.

But Prof. Charles L. Black Jr. of Yale University Law School says "this proposal, if passed, would constitute the first diminution, since our history began, of any federal constitutional guarantee of liberty, justice or equality." The board of governors of the American Bar Association, which opposes the other two amendments, has withheld action on this amendment.

The amendment has been proposed by the legislatures of 12 states: Arkansas, Idaho, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, Wyoming and — although its resolution is worded somewhat differently from the others — Utah. South Carolina will make the total 13 as soon as it completes some minor details on its resolution. Nebraska would have made it 14 but Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison vetoed the proposal after the legislature voted for it.

The "Court of the Union" amendment is longer and somewhat more complicated than the others.

Under this proposal, a "Court of the Union" would be made up of the chief justices of the 50 states, but it would not be active all the time. The court would be convened upon request of the legislatures of any five states without a common boundary.

The Court of the Union would have only one function. It would decide whether a particular decision of the U.S. Supreme Court was constitutional.

But the Court of the Union would not have complete jurisdiction over Supreme Court decisions. The Court of the Union could rule only when the decision involved powers of the states or the people. If the Supreme Court made a ruling about war or foreign commerce or coining money or any other power reserved to the federal government, the Court of the Union could not decide whether the ruling was constitutional.

The agreement of 26 justices on the Court of the Union would be needed to reverse a decision of the Supreme Court.

Rep. Warren L. Wood of the Illinois House says this amendment represents the first and only attempt to do something about the drift of state power to Washington instead of just talking about it.

Wood says the amendment would help make the Constitution work as it did "when the United States grew to be the greatest nation on earth."

But Prof. Black says this amendment would destroy "the powerful and life-giving idea that our Constitution is law, and that its character as national law can only be upheld by giving its final interpretation into the hands of a national judiciary."

The American Bar Association's board of governors — too long silent in Chief Justice Warren's view — decided last week to announce its disapproval of this amendment because it was "inconsistent with the constitutional concept of our court system."

The amendment has been approved by four states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and Wyoming. South Carolina will make it five as soon as it completes some minor details on its resolution.

Kennedy and Court Press Segregation

By JAME SMARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial segregation in the South is being smashed in a triple squeeze by the Supreme Court, the Kennedy administration and Negroes themselves demonstrating against discrimination.

The court Monday dealt a deadly blow to exclusion of Negroes from parks, playgrounds or other public facilities. And it clearly showed it is getting tougher about delays in desegregating public schools.

Only a week ago the court banned any attempt to exclude Negroes from places catering to the public—like restaurants or department stores—when the exclusion is imposed by state or city law or official orders.

The court has not yet ruled on whether proprietors of places catering to the public can—on their own and without compulsion from laws or officials—keep Negroes out.

More and more this year Negro demonstrations are persuading white segregationists in the South to remove their racial bars.

The Kennedy administration has been pushing harder. For example: sending troops into Alabama to be used, if necessary, to prevent riots in Birmingham.

The same troops can be used next month to enforce a court order—that two Negroes be admitted to the University of Alabama.

—If the governor, George C. Wallace, tries to carry out his threat to defy the court.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met with owners of Southern movie theaters Monday to tell them to begin solving their desegregation problems by working on them on a town-by-town basis.

Monday the Supreme Court put the finishing touches on Gov. Wallace's appeal to prevent Kennedy from using troops in Alabama. The court unanimously rejected his request.

The court's ban on segregation in public facilities—written by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg—was as tough as anything the court has said on the racial issue since it banned public school segregation in 1954.

The case happened to involve Memphis parks and playgrounds and swimming pools. But it applies equally to all cities. Memphis has desegregated only some of its facilities.

It wanted to wait until 1971 to desegregate them all. The court said: Do it now. Memphis had argued that desegregating all the facilities at once might cause racial strife and riots.

The court said that argument isn't good enough. It said "the compelling answer to this contention is that constitutional rights may not be denied simply because of hostility to their assertion or exercise."

The Supreme Court had previously declared: "Law and order are not to be preserved by depriving Negro children of their constitutional rights."

And, the court said in effect, a city can't postpone desegregation of parks and playgrounds with the argument that Negroes have enough of these facilities to meet their needs.

Coming and Going

Mrs. L. L. Connell went to Greenville, Tex., Sunday and heard her son, the Rev. Gladwin Connell, preach at the Methodist Church there. They were then guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie McGee.

Mrs. Herbert Stephens, president, read the list of committee chairmen. Tentative plans were made for a B. I. L. party June 10 at the Stephens home.

Tuesday Bridge Club
Mrs. Lloyd Spencer entertained her Tuesday Bridge Club on May 28. Besides the club members, Mrs. C. D. Lester and Mrs. Horace Stokes of Little Rock were also guests.

High scorers for the afternoon were Mrs. R. T. White and Mrs. Spencer. Snacks and cold drinks were served during the games.

Gift Tea for Bride-Elect
Miss Sara Janet Bryson
Miss Sara Janet Bryson, bride-elect of William A. Walters, was feted with a gift tea at the Heritage House Tuesday afternoon, May 28 by the members of the Harmony Bible Class of the First Christian Church.

The guest of honor wore a pale blue summer frock. She received a gift of silver in her chosen pattern from the hostesses. Pink hydrangeas made lovely decorations in the home, and white magnolia blossoms carried out the wedding theme.

Mrs. Raymond Robins, class vice-president, and Mrs. R. E. Smiley, secretary-treasurer, served sandwiches, cookies, and punch on coffee for refreshments. The guests included Mrs. L. J. Bryson of Prescott, mother of the bride-elect, and Miss Flora Hart of Texarkana.

Duplicate Club Meets
There were 3 1/2 tables of players when the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday night, May 27 at the Hope Country Club. Winning couples were: First, Mrs. R. L. Broach and Mrs. E. J. Whitman; second, Mrs. J. C. Broyles and Mrs. Horace Stokes of Little Rock; third, R. L. Broach and Dr. George Wright.

WIFE BUSY SIDE-STEPPING HUSBAND'S FRIEND
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Somehow, Lord help me, the husband of a couple who chum with the idea that I am the perfect female for extramarital romancing.

We've known these people three years; the husband was originally my husband's friend. On that basis I asked him and his wife in for an evening of bridge. They invited us back.

The third time, while his wife and my husband were out in the kitchen mixing drinks, he whispered that I was his ideal woman and how about a dinner for two in the country with a few hours afterward in a motel I was furious. Being clever, he plays the old-friends-stick-together tune and at my husband's invitation, the couple are here every Saturday night. Each time that freshie chases. Again and again I've said, "The answer is 'no!'"

In desperation I finally told my husband who refuses to do anything: just says he trusts me and knows I will not become involved. Meanwhile I'm rapidly becoming a nervous wreck.

I've been happily married eight years, have five children and not the slightest desire for any man other than my husband, but still this wolf pursues me. What do you advise — Upset?

Dear Upset: Your plight does not exactly reduce me to tears because you can easily be in control, if you really want to be. Spending every Saturday night in the same company must be rather monotonous. The pattern should be broken and you are the logical one to do it since the wife is generally in charge of the social department.

Ideally, of course, neither husband nor wife should operate at cross purposes, but sometimes that's unavoidable if there there business considerations involved. Since you do not mention any, I assume there are none; so you have even less excuse for letting this silly performance persist. Stop crying, "Wolf!" and act.

Surely this couple are not so oblivious to the rules of etiquette that they will continue to come to your home when the invitation is not backed up by you. If they are that insensitive, then you need feel no compunction. Make this quite clear to your husband who seems just as inconsiderate of you as your friends are. His trust in you may be flattering, but it's also unfeeling.

A very simple solution to your problem would be to include several other couples in these Saturday night gatherings. No need to cook and serve a whole meal single-handedly. Invite your guests for dessert and coffee, or have each couple contribute one item on the menu. When you weary of the hostess role, arrange a Saturday night engagement elsewhere, and one for the following week, the hostess role, arrange a Saturday night engagement elsewhere, and one for the following week, and one for the following week, and the week after that. Most husbands are agreeable about giving their wives a break from the kitchen.

As a last resort, become a TV Western addict, and make sure your husband gets hooked too. Invariably there's a saloon scene in every horse opera and usually there's a villain who overmenaces one of the hostesses. When that happens, some idealistic onlooker protects her. Your husband may learn an inspiring lesson. After all, it is his responsibility to keep the wolf from the door. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Attentions from Married Men."

Dear Helen: It's my sister. She and her boy friend planned to marry this summer — they have been engaged since Christmas and expected to have a big wedding. Now she's going to have a baby!

I've always looked up to her but since she told me this I can't help thinking, every time I see her, of what she's done. Should I judge her like this? After all, I keep telling myself, they were engaged. Am I being a prude — Ashamed to Be Ashamed?

Dear Ashamed: To err is human but you don't need to be divine to forgive. As you grow older, and presumably more tolerant, you will find yourself becoming less harsh in your judgments of other people. The French have a marvelous maxim which roughly translated means that if we could but understand all things, we would then be able to pardon all things.

This is not a wholly desirable goal because there are laws which must be obeyed no matter what, and crimes are unpardonable. But in the area of human behavior not governed by law, she should temper our judgments with compassion. Make this truly a "Memorial" day by showing compassion for your sister.

Dear Helen: I am separated but not divorced though I long to be. There are four children involved, hence the hesitation. All of them left of their own choice with me, our home life having been lousy; never a kind word from their father; only black looks and moody silence. Nothing we did was right. It got so we jumped at our own shadow. When I talk of going back the kids cry. Yet this way, they have no father. Maybe you can help me to think straight. — Worn Out

Dear Worn Out: There are two sides to every marital problem. Therefore, I hope that your husband can be persuaded to write me his version. Only then can I give practical, realistic advice. If he balks, suggest a conference with your clergyman or a worker at the local Domestic Relations Court.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help.

Protests Firing of ESD Worker

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The firing of Ulys F. Coleman, 61, from the Employment Security Division has been protested by the Little Rock Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

ESD administrator J. L. Bland said Coleman was dismissed because his work was not up to standards.

Coleman had been with the ESD 28 years. His testimony helped convict his superior, Charles F. Wood, of a Hatch Act violation three years ago.

The AAUW said the dismissal came about because of Coleman's testimony in Hatch Act hearings.

Protests Firing of ESD Worker

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The firing of Ulys F. Coleman, 61, from the Employment Security Division has been protested by the Little Rock Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

ESD administrator J. L. Bland said Coleman was dismissed because his work was not up to standards.

Coleman had been with the ESD 28 years. His testimony helped convict his superior, Charles F. Wood, of a Hatch Act violation three years ago.

The AAUW said the dismissal came about because of Coleman's testimony in Hatch Act hearings.

One to the Family

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Highway department decided Wednesday to extend a rule against hiring more than one member of the same family to include summer help.

THE MAJOR PUT THE SIGN UP

Picked 9th A's Taking Their Time

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

"They may have picked us for ninth place, but we're taking our time getting there," says Ed Charles, the poet laureate of the Kansas City Athletics and the author of their latest triumph.

The 28-year-old second baseman with the quick pencil and the big stick stroked a bases-loaded single in the 11th inning that gave the fifth-place A's a 5-4 triumph over American League leading Baltimore Wednesday night and cut off the Orioles' winning streak at nine games.

One of the more consistent elements on the surprising A's, Charles came to Kansas City last year in a trade with Milwaukee. He immediately chased Wayne Causey to the bench, hit at a .283 clip in his first season in the majors and proved a valuable hitter in the clutch.

Now that Causey has pushed his way back into the line-up with a .350 batting average, the A's have a solid 1-2 punch at the top of the batting order and have held onto their place in the first division despite prolonged slumps by Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe.

Lumpe stroked a three-run double and Siebern connected for a homer against the Orioles, but it was Causey and Charles who combined singles in the 11th for the clincher. Charles wound up with a 3-for-5 performance and raised his average to .286.

The loss, the Orioles' second in the last 16 games, trimmed their edge to three games over the second-place New York Yankees, rained out at Boston, Baltimore's streak had the longest in the majors this season.

Minnesota's Twins equalled that, getting No. 9 in a row by walloping woeful Washington 10-1 as Vic Power hit a grand slam homer and Earl Batey a three-run shot in support of Dick Stigman's two-hit pitching.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Charley Dees' three-run double powered the Los Angeles Angels to a 4-2 victory over Detroit.

National League leading San Francisco edged Cincinnati 5-4, St. Louis outlasted Houston 3-2 in 10 innings and Milwaukee and the Los Angeles Dodgers played to a 3-3 tie in a game called in the seventh inning due to fog. The other clubs were not scheduled.

Dees, playing his second major league game, broke a 1-1 tie against the Tigers with his key hit in the sixth inning. The Angels had scored the first run in the fifth on Albie Pearson's homer off loser Bill Paul. Dean Chance was the winner with Julio Navarro's relief help over the final 12 1/3 innings.

Atlanta in Shutout Win Over Travs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers continued to have their troubles with Atlanta Wednesday night. Jack Kubiszyn scored all three runs as the Crackers beat the Travelers 3-0 in Little Rock.

It was the fourth time this year that Atlanta beat Arkansas. The Travelers have yet to conquer the Georgians.

In other International League games, Columbus topped Rochester 6-3, Buffalo trimmed Syracuse 6-4, Richmond trounced Jacksonville 10-4 and Indianapolis edged Rochester 2-0 to move past Arkansas into second place in the Southern Division of the league.

Kubiszyn was safe at first in the first inning on Lee Elia's error, he beat out an infield hit in the fifth inning and he doubled off the left field wall in the ninth inning. Kubiszyn scored in each inning.

The Jacksonville Suns, defending International League champions, dropped their fifth in a row Wednesday night when Richmond numbered three home runs among its 12 hits for a 10-4 victory. The loss dropped the 1962 pennant winners 10 1/2 games behind Atlanta's Southern Division leaders.

Jim Ackley of Indianapolis, a Chicago White Sox farm prize, limited the Rochester offense to a second-inning single by Ron Kabbes in posting his fifth victory in seven decisions. Jim Koranda's two-run homer off Red Wing starter John Miller produced the only runs.

Bob Schmidt, Pedro Gonzalez and Joe Durham homered for Richmond in the Virginians' easy victory over Jacksonville and Reuben Gomez, Gonzalez drove in five runs.

Two errors by Syracuse in the eighth inning helped Buffalo score four runs for the Bison victory over the Chiefs. The victory padded Buffalo's Northern Division lead to 2 1/2 games over Syracuse.

Two homers by Orlando McFarlane and one each by Bob Burda and Harry Elliott lifted Columbus over Toronto and pinned a second defeat on veteran Leaf right-hander Steve Ridzik, who was seeking his seventh victory.

Giants Extend Lead Over the Idle Dodgers

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Imagine! Willie Mays with the "good field, no hit" tag. Wondrous Willie is suffering through what is undoubtedly the roughest slump of his career at bat. But the San Francisco Giants' brilliant center fielder still shows the old-time sparkle on defense.

After a third straight hitless game Wednesday night that dropped his average to .243, Mays made a clutch contribution with a spectacular catch in the bottom of the ninth inning at Cincinnati. He crashed into the wall in center holding on for a one-inning grab of pinch hitter Ken Walters' long drive that helped preserve the Giants' 5-4 decision over the Reds.

Slugging sensation Ed Bailey rapped a three-run homer and Billy Pierce did a tight bit of relief pitching in the Giants' victory, which boosted their National League lead to 1 1/2 games over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers' game with the Braves at Milwaukee was called because of heavy fog in the top of the seventh inning with the score tied 3-3 and will have to be replayed as part of a doubleheader July 21.

In the only other NL game, Bill White's homer with one out in the last of the 10th gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory over Houston.

In the American League — Kansas City beat Baltimore 5-4 in 11 innings, Minnesota's Twins won their ninth straight, 10-1 over Washington; and Los Angeles trimmed Detroit 4-2. The New York Yankees and Red Sox were rained out at Boston.

White's homer nailed down the Cards' sixth victory in their last seven games, breaking a tie created when the Colts scored a run in the eighth on doubles by Brock Davis and Al Spangler.

The winner was Bobby Shantz and the loser was Don McMahon, both in relief.

Best Buys in Beef at Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef is hard to beat for economical eating this holiday weekend. In some markets, prices are lower than they have been for any May in years.

The flow of feed cattle to market accounts for most of the lower price level.

One national chain offers sirloin steaks at 79 cents a pound and ribs at 69 cents in its New York area outlets this weekend. Rib roasts are another widespread feature. Many grocers are featuring hamburger as a holiday weekend item.

Pork prices have moved up a bit after several weeks at low levels. Canned hams, ideal for picnic eating, are offered at bargain prices at many shops. Short-ribs for holiday barbecues are another standout. Smoked picnics and bacon are also featured.

Many supermarkets are running specials on franks, with one chain tagging them at 9 cents a pound. Poultry fare continues economical.

Southeastern shops feature baking hens. Broiler fryers are almost a universal feature, with Midwest stores especially pushing them.

Corn on the cob and watermelon, two seasonal favorites, currently lead their departments at many grocers.

Joining watermelon at fruit counters are pineapple, strawberries and in the southwest, such delights as blackberries, plums and cherries.

Prices of raw sugar have declined and there were some downturns in wholesale prices. This could mean sugar prices in stores will come down off the peaks they recently attained.

Update Is Pleasant TV Experiment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the pleasant experimental programs of the past two seasons has been "Update," on NBC, developed for and aimed at the teen-age audience. But it looks as if next Sunday's "Update" will do the last of the series.

Robert Abernathy, 36 who is commentator on the program, is not downhearted by the end of the program, feeling that it accomplished something. For one thing, he found that although the half-hour Sunday afternoon news program was aimed at teen-agers, at least half of its devoted audience had left the teens behind.

"I've had to do 'Update' to my own satisfaction," Abernathy said, "and I've felt for some time that most news on radio and television was too condensed because of the time factor. The words go by so fast that many times it's hard to know just what has been said."

Abernathy has been tackling complicated news subjects on an easy-does-it basis. He treats one subject at a time, he speaks slowly, explains clearly ("it's sort of a combination of teaching and he breaks the program into three parts).

"News is the first part, and the middle part is more feature material, and at the end I've tried for softer material, that could give me a chance to deal with books and science," he said. "And if the news lead had to be fairly depressing, I've tried to end the program on a hopeful and optimistic note."

Abernathy expects to go back to his old job of covering the Washington scene.

Next Sunday's windup show is called "Bob Abernathy's Washington" and will be a feature about the history and landmarks of the capital city where he was brought up.

There's some talk that, if the program goes over well, it might be the pattern for a series.

America Is Still Losing Soldiers

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — It has been a decade since the last of the nation's nine major wars ended, but Americans still die on battlefields, to be remembered on this Memorial Day.

Their names still come in, by ones and twos, to be added to the more than 602,000 who fell during the past 188 years at such places as Lexington and Taejon, at Gettysburg and Normandy, at the Battle of Lake Erie and on the Coral Sea.

The United States isn't an official belligerent in Viet Nam's war. But in the last 2 1/2 years 36 Americans have died by "hostile action." They were with South Viet Nam forces in engagements against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Only Wednesday night, the Pentagon announced that a U.S. Army captain and a private were killed while on combat patrol in Viet Nam. The officer was identified as Capt. James Brodt, 39, Cocoa, Fla. Pending identification of the next of kin, the private was

32 Drivers in Memorial Day Classic

By DALE BURGESS

Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Long Scotsman Jimmy Clark and 32 other America's hardest charging race drivers take 15,000 horsepower to their hands today in a 500-mile auto race that promised superlatives beyond anything in 46 past Memorial Day classics.

Weather prospects were good but that's traditional. The field came out of two qualifying weekend with average speeds of 149.028 miles per hour over the 2 1/2-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway oval built in 1910 for 75 miles an hour. Parnelli Jones did 151.153 m.p.h. for a new 10-mile record.

Chapman of London, builder of rear-engine Grand Prix cars, to produce the Lotus-Ford which Clark and Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., wheeled to the starting line.

Three other drivers from the world racing circuit didn't make the program. Champion Graham Hill of London withdrew for lack of practice. Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico City and Masten Gregory, American living in Paris, made qualifying runs too slow to stay in the field.

Altogether the track, including pre-500 sprints of 1959 and 1960, has taken the lives of 30 drivers, 14 mechanics, 9 spectators and a guard who was hit by a fire truck returning from a 1961 wreck.

Wrecks don't discourage the auto racing clan. Dick Rathmann was back in the starting field today. So was Rodger Ward, two-time winner and a strong possibility to do it again. Former winners Troy Ruttman, Jim Rathman and A. J. Foyt also qualified and Foyt, especially, was rated an excellent change to repeat.

Burglary Charge Hearing Set

DeGaulle Runs Things Like General

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—As president of France, Charles de Gaulle runs his government with the steady, well organized routine of a general staff officer.

Orders move calmly through channels on regular schedule. There are no breathless post-midnight sessions, no hectic excitement.

When the president goes to bed, the story goes, the Elysee Palace staff must not disturb him except in case of world war—and the accent is on the adjective.

Two aspects of De Gaulle's working methods betray the 72-year-old president as a man of another generation: he uses the telephone as little as possible, and he does not dictate streams of letters or memos.

A lot of mail pours into the Elysee Palace and De Gaulle reads a surprisingly large amount of it. He writes his comment on the margin, or below the body of the letter, and his instructions as to how it should be answered.

For speeches or major statements De Gaulle writes the text himself in longhand, frequently revising. De Gaulle's handwriting is so illegible that he then dictates the text to a secretary. When this is typed, the president usually makes further revisions, and this all has to be typed again.

This virtually is the only time that De Gaulle consents to dictate to a secretary.

The keynote of the Elysee Palace routine is to organize time so as to conserve the general's energies. One little note helps to evoke the general staff atmosphere: the Elysee staff almost invariably refers to him as "Le General" instead of "Le President."

De Gaulle's habit in approaching a problem is to gather advice

Union Wants the Plant to Move

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Picket lines will remain in front of the plant of Wheatley Industries Inc. until the firm has moved out of the building, a union spokesman said Tuesday.

Wheatley announced recently that it would close operations Friday for economic reasons.

Allen Bryant, sub-district director of the United Steel Workers of America, said officials of the firm told him they planned to move by Thursday.

Wheatley officials said the decision to close the plant had nothing to do with the strike, which began March 27.

The firm has offered to buy plant equipment which Saline County voters approved a $250,000 bond issue to pay for originally. No decision has been reached. The firm made pumps and valves.

Guests Refuse to Leave Hotel

TOKYO (AP)—About 550 guests, mostly Americans, refused to leave the swank Imperial Hotel today despite an outbreak of dysentery among the hotel's employees. The hotel has shut down food, beverage and room services.

A hotel spokesman said the number of dysentery cases had reached 78. There were 33 cases reported Monday among the hotel's 1,730 employees.

and all possible information from specialists and trusted subordinates, then make his own study, alone in his office or in his private living room.

Once he has made up his mind it is most difficult to change it. But his manner, according to persons near him, is not authoritarian.

De Gaulle puts in a sort of 5½-day week, from Monday morning to Saturday noon. Office hours on weekdays run from about 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. with a two-hour midday break.

Lemons Liven Canned Dry Soup Mixes

Lemons, always available (the trees bear fruit year 'round), are prized in many circles. Medically, they've been famous since 1600 when they were discovered as a remedy for scurvy.

Gastronomically, their uses are legion. There's hardly a home-maker who isn't aware of the small miracles wrought by a dash of lemon juice, or a pinch of grated rind. Natural flavors of foods become sharper, more taste-worthy when lemon is the catalyst.

Canned beef noodle dry soup mix needs nothing to enhance its natural beefy goodness but lemon juice. The addition of bay leaf increases the bouquet.

Herbed Beef Noodle With Lemon

1 can (1 1/2 ounces) beef noodle dry soup mix
1 cup boiling water
1 to 2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 bay leaf

In saucepan, stir soup mix into water; add lemon juice and bay leaf. Partially cover; simmer 7 minutes, stirring now and then. Remove bay leaf. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Here again, natural beef flavor comes through with amazing clarity when a dash of dill and slices of fresh lemons are added to canned beef dry soup mix.

Beef and Lemon Bowl

1 can (2 1/2 ounces) beef dry soup mix
3 cups cold water
4 slices lemon
Generous dash dill weed

Empty soup into saucepan; gradually blend in water. Mix until smooth. Add lemon and dill. Bring to boil, stirring. Partially cover; simmer 10 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

State Labor Figures Don't Mean Much

By WICK TEMPLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The first thing you learn in exploring the Arkansas labor picture is that figures don't mean much.

The AFL-CIO says it is winning 65 per cent of labor elections in the state compared to a national average of 50 per cent.

The state Chamber of Commerce says unions are winning 50 per cent in Arkansas compared with 65 per cent over the nation.

Estimates of union membership in Arkansas run from 80,000 by the state labor Department to upwards of 100,000 by the AFL-CIO.

But some things are obvious. The labor movement is growing in Arkansas with industrialization. There are more union members than ever before.

Unions are strongest in south-central Arkansas where more of the wood products, oil and gas and metals plants are located. Fort Smith rates as the second strongest union area and Helena is a moderately strong union center.

Some 83 workers in Arkansas might belong to unions and don't, the Labor Department says. The state's work force is 65,000.

Arkansas' average wage ranks above only Mississippi and South Carolina. But Frank Cantrell, executive secretary of the state Chamber of Commerce, says the figure will grow.

"Our problem is to get off the ground industrially," he said. "Higher wages will come with increasing industrialization. We should all pull together to get as much industry of every possible kind as we can, and get gainful employment for these people washed out of farming."

Cantrell sees Arkansas' present status as an interim one between an agrarian economy and a mixture of agriculture and industry.

George Ellison, president of the state AFL-CIO, says the state is losing ground in the campaign for higher wages and better conditions. It is gaining in percentage of income, but losing in spendable money paid to workers, he says.

"For instance, a nickel raise will increase Arkansas' income by about four per cent. But the same nickel raise will increase Missouri's income by only two per cent," he said.

Bill Raney, the new state labor commissioner, says Arkansas workers have better conditions than ever. The union movement is growing faster than in the past, but there is no indication of a great surge toward unionization. He said the former CIO organizer and Reynolds Metals Co. employee.

Employer resistance is generally less, he said. "In a majority, employers have changed their attitudes about unions," he added. "And there are some who prefer to give their workers more or as much as they would get under a union contract."

Cantrell says Arkansas probably

No Amputation

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—A doctor has ruled out amputation at this time of the frostbitten toes of two Mt. Everest conquerors.

"It cannot be determined yet if there is permanent injury," Dr. Robert Berry of Alden, Pa., said Monday after examining William Unsold, 36, of Corvallis, Ore. and never will be as strong in unions as northeastern states, where the union idea began in this country. "In the South, we have a more rural, conservative economic viewpoint," he said. "We're still a farm state, but we're bumping the 50 per cent mark on balance of farm and industry."

Unions are weakest in predominantly rural areas, and higher incomes are associated with large urban concentrations, Cantrell said. Arkansas has only one county—Pulaski—with more than 100,000 population.

Wasted No Time Leaving Jail

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—When Jailer Tom MacDonald came around to Robert Winsor Robideau's cell in the Humboldt County jail on Sunday and said, "Your time's up. You can go now," he got a speedy response.

Robideau was dressed in an instant and checked out in the wink of an eye. It wasn't until later in the day MacDonald recollected that the 25-year-old Yuroc Indian still had over four months to serve for his petty theft conviction. Robideau was sentenced on April 8 to serve 180 days.

Mehaffy to Get Appeals Bench

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pat Mehaffy, 56, a Little Rock, Ark., lawyer, is expected to be nominated by President Kennedy to be a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis, Mo.

Senate confirmation is necessary, but no obstacles to the appointment are apparent.

Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., strongly support Mehaffy, Arkansas' Democratic National Committeeman.

The court's jurisdiction includes Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota.

The Doctor's Strange Secret

By Elizabeth Seifert

THE STORY: Jim Ash, a doctor, shows up at the hospital and offers to do Dr. Howdeshell's work for him until a hearing is held for Dr. Howdeshell in connection with a fatal shooting.

hard, he would have found ways and time to be with them. "In fact," said Jim, "we quickly found our new resident was a boy genius. The word seeped through the Center within weeks of his arrival. "He was 30 years old," said Jim, "with two small children to provide for. He had lost his wife—and worked very hard. "Also," Smokey now broke in on my account, "I had a series of favorable breaks at the Center."

"He told us about the woman who believed, and told widely, that you had gone secretly to England to try to cure King George at the time of his final illness."

Smokey laughed. "I wasn't even asked." He took out his tobacco pouch. "Incidentally," he said casually, "that same woman had a sister."

"Yes, Dr. Ash told us about that, too." Smokey and this "sister" had occasionally gone skating on the lake of the park near their apartment house. One evening she had fallen, a nasty spill, in which she had bruised her side against a park bench.

Almost five years later, a lump appeared.

"Jim said that you found a massive cancer. "Metastatic," Smokey corrected me.

"Yet, And that when you told the sister—she said, that her sister had had cancer ever since the injury she'd received when skating. That the operation had scattered it, and hastened her death." "I knew the woman had cancer of the lower intestines. I told her family—and her—before I operated—that her condition could be relieved by a colostomy. That it would not be a cure. I said that she might feel better for some time, and then worse again. That was the opinion which I wrote down on paper."

"It wasn't at the time of the surgery, you know, that the family raised their row. It was when the sister did become worse, and died."

Hawaiian Stamp Brings $41,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-cent Hawaiian stamp was sold Monday night for $41,000—said to be a record for a single stamp sold at auction.

The stamp, issued in 1851 for use mainly by missionaries, is the only known copy of this particular stamp which had not gone through the mails.

The Hawaiian stamp was from the collection of the late Maurice Burrus of Lausanne. It was bought by Raymond Ueili, a professional philatelist from New Orleans.

This magnificent $10 million 850-room resort will contain ultra-modern guest accommodations, as well as meeting facilities for 2,000 persons. It will be completed by the H. R. Weissberg Corporation, national hotel organization, for opening in November 1963. Convention and tourist reservations are now being taken at Weissberg hotels throughout the country. The Ponce de Leon has been designed as one of the world's most lavish beachfront hotels by Basora & Menendez of San Juan.

Gets 10 Years

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—George W. Merrell of Madison, Ill. was sentenced Tuesday to 10 years in federal prison for bank robbery. He pleaded guilty in district court at East St. Louis before U.S. District Judge William G. Juergens to robbing the Cerro Gordo, Ill. State Bank near Decatur of $5,362 last March 1. Merrell was arrested March 14 at Blytheville, Ark.

Okays Stock Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A plan by the Arkansas—Missouri Power Company of Blytheville to issue two $2.50 shares for each $5 share outstanding June 15 was approved Tuesday by the state Public Service Commission. The firm had 847,709 shares of common stock outstanding, at $5 a share. The PSC said the stock split will create an expanded market for the firm's common stock.

Thinks Being Success Takes Work

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tony Bill is a refreshing challenge to the contention there is no such thing in show business as an overnight success.

A year ago he was on the brink of graduating from Notre Dame, wanting to get married but undecided about his future. He had virtually completed two full courses at the university—in English and art—and he had been invited back for further study. He was asked by a professor what he really wanted to do in life.

"I think I want to be an actor," said Tony, who had performed in every school play he could get into.

The professor wrote a letter of recommendation to film director Leo McCarey, whom he had once met. Tony followed up with a visit to Hollywood—his first, although he grew up in San Diego, 130 miles away.

McCarey was impressed and called the top man at the William Morris talent agency.

"I was handed down through echelons until I came to an agent who talked to me," Tony recalled. "Within 15 minutes I was in the office of Norman Lear and Bud Yorking to discuss playing Frank Sinatra's brother in 'Come Blow Your Horn.'"

Transplanted Liver Fails

DENVER (AP)—William Grigsby, 47, a janitor, died Monday night, 22 days after he received the liver of a dead man in a rare transplant operation.

Physicians said Grigsby contracted pneumonia Sunday but the exact cause of death has not been determined.

Grigsby, who had cancer of the liver, received X-ray treatments and drugs to aid his body in accepting the substitute organ.

Tony Bill, who had never acted outside of school, found himself playing a leading role with such pros as Sinatra, Lee J. Cobb and Molly Picon.

Now the producers are knocking at his door. He is set for "The Carpetbaggers"—"a small part, but that's all right with me; I want to learn." Then he goes into "Soldier in the Rain," in which he is billed below Jackie Gleason and Steven McQueen.

How does all this feel? "Great," said Tony, a dark-haired, thin-faced, personable 22. "At least I like everything about it so far. In a few months when people start recognizing me, I may feel different about it."

His success solved one problem: getting married. Last December he married Toni Gray, a Hammond, La., girl whom he met while she was attending St. Mary's College near Notre Dame.

Tony Bill, but he is not concerned. "It doesn't confuse us," he said. "And whoever calls us on the phone knows which Tony he wants to talk to."

Sea Missile Trouble With British

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's plan for a sea-borne nuclear missile force within the Atlantic Alliance has run into trouble again—this time with Britain.

If Britain's reservations about the plan can be cleared up in the next two or three weeks, however, the resulting accord could lead to a meeting between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan during Kennedy's late June swing around Western Europe.

Macmillan has been reported pressing for a meeting with Kennedy. Agreement on principle on British participation in the proposed force would supply practical, even urgent, reason for a get-together.

If British questions about the Polaris nuclear force cannot be satisfied, Britain's refusal to participate might result in abandonment or radical change of the project.

The heart of the proposal provides for construction of a fleet of 20 to 25 warships armed with a total of about 200 Polaris missiles and manned by joint crews of the participating nations. The cost over a period of 10 years has been estimated at $5 billion, to be split among the participants.

The first strong objection to the U.S. plan came earlier this year from West Germany. The

Flood Control

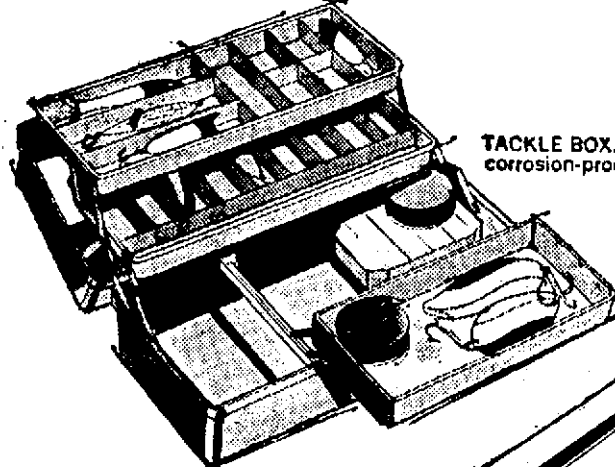

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A delegation of the Missouri-Arkansas Basins Flood Control Association will go to Washington next week for House and Senate committee hearings on a request that Congress authorize the Corps of Engineers to study the feasibility of navigation on the Kansas River. The executive board of the association discussed the proposal Tuesday, but announced no decision, pending the outcome of the hearings.

Germans argued the missiles should be based on submarines rather than surface ships. The United States insisted that surface ships would be cheaper, quicker to build and little if any more vulnerable to enemy attack. Bonn finally agreed a surface force would be acceptable.

Make It Coffee, Picnic-Style, With Tangy Grilled Sandwiches

The first thing a cookout calls for is coffee—a big camper's potful brewed over an open fire. Then, with the aroma of the coffee to spur you on, prepare the rest of the trappings.

Instead of the familiar hot dogs and hamburgers, why not try these tangy Cheddar-Walnut Sandwiches for a delicious change? They're filled with a blend of sharp cheddar and chopped walnuts. Go-wits include cole slaw, deviled eggs, assorted relishes—and, of course, the big, fragrant potful of coffee.

Now, add eight Approved Coffee Measures (one level measuring cup) of regular grind coffee. Stir the brew for half a minute and then let it steep over very low heat for ten minutes more. Just before serving, add a few drops of cold water to settle the grounds. And there you have eight delicious cups of coffee, picnic-style.

GRILLED CHEDDAR-WALNUT SANDWICHES

3 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup sharp cooking oil
1 cup sharp cooking oil

Combine all ingredients except bread; blend well. Spread between slices of bread to make 9 or 10 sandwiches. Brush sandwiches on both sides with melted butter. Grill over hot coals.

Market Still Uncertain After Drop

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market observed today the first anniversary of its second worst crash of the century with many issues—but far from all—having recovered the ground lost then. But it faces many uncertainties and there is little sign yet that it has regained the full confidence of the public with a few dollars to invest, or with a few to risk on a fast in-and-out try for a quick profit.

Guessing which way the economy—and the market—is heading has changed markedly since that gloomy May 28, 1962. But today's guesses still are far apart.

The Kennedy administration is reported as seeing no chance now of a recession in the foreseeable future. The big market crash had fed such fears last May and June and sparked demands for tax cuts as a preventative.

The real optimists are insisting that the U.S. economy today stands on the brink of a boom.

The cautious souls—especially many stock traders—are still holding that rising operating costs will keep enough of a squeeze on profits to make dividend rises moderate. In turn, this means that at today's high prices for many stocks, their yields will be less than tempting.

And the even more cautious ones are warning that the much touted economic indicators have been wrong before. A year ago they were pointing toward a possible recession. It didn't develop. Now they are pointing toward continued and accelerated growth. Will they be right this time?

Much of today's optimism about the stock market centers on the performance of popular stock averages. These chart the movements of selected stocks held to be indicative of the market as a whole. Most of these popular guides have recovered all of the loss since last May and many are at or near new highs. Most set their previous highs in December 1961 or January 1962. They had been in a long slide before the May crash.

But many of the individual stocks in the popular averages had hit their highs well before December 1961 peak. And some of them are selling below these peaks today.

Many of the big performers in the 1961 stock boom were growth stocks, newcomers to the market and to the public's fancy. Some of these took the biggest drops in 1961—some well before the big crash in May. And many are still far below their spectacular highs. The over-all recovery since May 1962 has been encouraging. But it isn't as general as many think. Nor is the future a nicely wrapped package of certain prosperity.

Speedway Excitement — At Home

There's a new boom on the hobby market that's bringing a thrill-a-second into thousands of American homes.

It's a craze for table-top automobile speedways. These miniature racing roads are known as "slot cars."

They are realistic models of sports cars, stock cars, and even racing cars which whiz around a slotted track driven by remote control.

Speed-happy auto fans can whip their streamlined chariots over hairpin turns, and zoom down straightaways like Barney Oldfield and Sterling Moss for hours on end—all in the comfort and safety of their own living rooms.

I even know of a group of electronics engineers who gather in each other's homes every week-end for parlor auto racing competitions that chase away their work-week tensions.

There are also model monorail systems for more futuristic speed demons. And people with a soft spot for the past get similar enjoyment from fast model trains.

Many living room raceway fans will want to make decorative models of their favorite cars for mantle-pieces and bookshelves. Easy-to-assemble kits make it possible to construct scores of different scale model autos from plastic or wooden parts.

Race Barriers Crumbling in the South

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This inspiring year, in which Congress has dragged its feet and the big powers look like bears in a slow waltz, may yet be memorable and even tense at home, if not abroad.

Racial barriers, caught between the Supreme Court decisions against state-imposed segregation and Negro demonstrations against segregation in all its forms, are crumbling in the South.

But even by year's end they will still be far from eliminated. Because of white resistance to the crumbling and Negro insistence upon hastening it, racial explosions in the South could turn this into an agonizing year.

And it can't even be guessed what will happen in Alabama if Gov. George C. Wallace insists on defying a federal court order—and President Kennedy uses

G. Diefenbaker, charged in the House of Commons Monday that Butterworth wrote Pearson prior to last April's election that "You can always count on our support."

Churchill said the ambassador told the Liberal leader it would be "quite evident" to Canadian voters that the Conservative government was "narrow-minded and unfit to govern."

Butterworth issued a statement denying he ever wrote such a letter and, like Pearson, called it a forgery.

troops to back it up—to admit Negroes to the University of Alabama.

In Congress this has been a dull, slow time. From the beginning of his term Kennedy has leaned over backwards to get along with Southern Democrats, even when they hurled roadblocks at some of his programs, like medical care for the aged.

On other programs they've been of help to him.

But the pleasant relationship may turn sour and the help diminish if he really pushes hard for civil rights measures with teeth at the very time he's hoping Congress will give him the kind of tax cut program he's pleaded for.

Southern opposition to civil rights legislation, with the filibuster and all the dragged-out days and nights that means, could keep Congress in session on into fall.

And if he does push for civil rights bills Kennedy will have to think of what Southern antagonism will mean to Democratic party in 1964 and his chance for a second term.

Abroad, this year has been a kind of stumbling time for both the United States and its allies on one side and communism on the other.

Premier Khrushchev has avoided new crises. His time seems to have been taken up with:

1. Recovering from the bang to his prestige—after being forced to pull his missiles out of Cuba last fall—and perhaps pondering some other strategy of tit-for-tat to make the United States back down on something.

2. Trying to avoid a violent break with his Red Chinese critics while trying to rally world Communist opinion to his side before he has a showdown with the Chinese Communists. Some kind of showdown seems certain.

Meanwhile Kennedy has had his hands full trying to preserve allied unity—both on trade and defense—after French President de Gaulle cracked it at the seams with his tactics.

So the Kennedy administration has been wrestling with its allies over tariffs while offering plans, which sound far bigger than they look, for a NATO nuclear force. In short, this first half of 1963

SAFETY CHECK TIME... Debbie Drake, Chairman of American Bike Month in May, has a little help in getting her bike ready for summer. Knowing the rules of the road and riding a properly equipped bike make riding safe as well as fun.

Planning a spring weekend "bike hike", a bike camping trip, or a pleasant roadside ride into the "back country"? It's a fine way to have fun and stay fit—but better have your bike inspected first.

May is American Bike Month, and wherever facilities are available, bike retailers will be offering free bike inspections during May. A competent service man will make sure your warning device is working properly, since a horn or bell is essential to alert dreaming drivers and absent-minded pedestrians.

Your service man will also check your brakes. Don't "monkey" with your coaster brake. A skilled service man should inspect or adjust it, replacing worn or damaged parts, and insuring you a safe, safe stop every time.

For night riding, be sure your headlight is working well... well enough for you to see, and well enough to be visible from at least 500 feet away. A motorist should be able to see your tail light or reflector from at least 300 feet away.

Available at all bike dealers in May is the free booklet, "America's All Time Ten Best Bike Games," which contains riding tips, rules of the road, bike games, and a self-inspection chart. This chart will remind you to check your spokes, replacing loose or weakened ones, to inflate tires to proper pressure, to replace worn pedals and damaged chains, to adjust and tighten seat and handlebar nuts and bolts, and to lubricate all moving parts.

The free bike games booklet also contains the 12 nationally accepted Bike Rules of the Road, "must" knowledge for responsible cycling.

A few minutes spent getting your bike into good road condition and busing up on traffic laws will help you ride safely, healthily and happily, during Bike Month or any month.

Comments From a Street Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato: Are you afraid of retirement? The desirability of life on a pension seems to vary inversely with a man's age.

Many a young man of 22 or 23, a year or so out of college, is sure that retirement is the real boon of existence. Before he has really worked up a sweat — or perhaps found his true rut — he is ready to turn in his white collar, put on a sport shirt, and start taking it easy.

"If I had the money, I'd quit at 25 — or 30 at the latest," he says. "I'd find plenty to occupy my mind. I wouldn't be bored."

The thought that bores him is going to work every day for another 40 years. He feels life has turned older men into mere plow-horses — and doesn't want that to happen to him.

But to many a man of 63 or 64, the prospect of enforced retirement looms almost as a death penalty. His job that seems such a rut to younger men has become to him his only remaining valley of dream. He dreads the thought of hanging up his lunch box forever.

It is hard for him to be told that at 65 he must emerge from his long cocoon of labor and take up the freedom of a butterfly. He has long ago lost the desire to live like a butterfly. His only remaining desire is to stay on the job with his fellows until he dies.

Geriatricians are becoming increasingly aware of this problem as society is forcing more and more men to quit at 65. Since they still have a life expectancy of 13 or more years, what can be done to keep those years from becoming lonely, burdensome, and full of self-pity?

One way would be to gradually start lengthening the vacation period, and shortening the work week, in middle age. Then a man would have the fire time and energy to acquire the outside interests that could bolster him in his age, and turn him into a cheerful oldster.

A man can learn to enjoy golf at 40, but try to teach him the game at 65 and he is inclined to think it useless and a waste of time.

Here's the way such a plan might operate:

At 40 you give a man a five-week vacation, at 45 a six-week vacation, at 50 a seven-week vacation, at 55 an eight-week vacation, at 60 a nine-week vacation.

At 40 you also put a man on a four-day week, at 50, a three-day week, and at 60 a two-day week. Starting at 63, he'd come into the office only to pick up his paycheck.

At 65, such a fellow would no longer be too dependent on his job. He'd have learned to do most of

Reds Closing Escape Gaps on Refugees

LONDON (AP) — The Communists are relentlessly closing the escape hatches through which over 10 million refugees have slipped to freedom since the end of World War II.

Once over a million a year made it. Now there is only a trickle flowing through cracks in the Red walls.

In the month before the Communists walled off Berlin, 30,000 East Germans escaped to the Western half of the divided city. Now about 12 persons a week succeed in defying nearly impossible odds to reach West Berlin.

In the five months following the abortive 1956 uprising, 170,000 Hungarians poured into Vienna, once a haven for fleeing East Europeans. Now two or three Hungarians a month make it across the 200-mile border with Austria, mostly in winter when frozen ground offers protection against land mines.

During the Korean War 2 million North Koreans risked their lives under gunfire from both sides, racing across heavily mined battlefields to South Korea. Today the boundary is tightly sealed, halting the refugee flow.

Last fall more than 10,000 refugees from Red China crossed into Hong Kong and the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao every month. Last month the figure dropped to 2,000.

In North Viet Nam and Chinese-ruled Tibet the flight of refugees has all but stopped.

There are no accurate estimates of the number killed or injured while trying to escape. About 50 persons have lost their lives trying to flee to West Berlin since the wall was built. Some were shot. Others drowned while trying to swim canals or lakes. A few died jumping off buildings.

Communist military power, however, is not the only reason for the dwindling rate of refugees.

The slump in desertion from Red China, for example, also arises from increased food production on the Chinese mainland and tighter border controls clamped down by British authorities to keep over-populated Hong Kong from starving.

Others have preferred to live under communism. Since 1959, 79,281 Koreans living in Japan have chosen to be repatriated to Communist North Korea.

Still, as indicated by the more than 250,000 Cuban exiles in the United States, the flight from communism continues.

Consolidate Right Upheld by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld today the right of the Garland County Election Commission to consolidate some townships.

It was the second time the case had been in the Supreme Court. On the first occasion, the high court ruled that the case could properly be appealed to Garland Circuit Court.

The case dates back several years. The Election Commission said it consolidate several rural townships to cut election expense.

Foes of the consolidation said it would create hardship for some electors who would have to travel up to 12 miles to vote. The Supreme Court held that roads and means of transportation have improved to a point that no one would be improperly inconvenienced.

In another Garland County case, the Supreme Court affirmed a death sentence assessed against William L. Maxwell, a Negro convicted of raping a 35-year-old white woman.

A contention by Maxwell's attorneys that Arkansas authorities discriminate against Negroes in application of the rape statute was rejected by the high court.

No Space Deaths

MOSCOW (AP) — An American newspaper report that five Soviet cosmonauts died in space launchings is false, says Alexei Adzhubel, editor of the government paper Izvestia.

Adzhubel, son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, denied the report of the New York Journal-American in an open letter to William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor in chief of the Journal-American and other Hearst papers.

his wife's work around the home, and he full of enthusiasms for a long carefree life on a pension.

Since the work of society must be done by someone, however, such a plan would mean young people might have to work harder in their youth. They might have to work six days a week, and take only one or two weeks of vacation a year, until they had reached 40 themselves.

When I asked a number of young men whether they would be willing to make this sacrifice in order to create a happier senior citizenry, they replied unanimously:

"NO."

It's hard to change the rules of the game and please everybody, isn't it

Says Legislature Was a Lousy One

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Benton County Rep. Hardy W. Croxton referred to the 1963 legislative session as "lousy" in a speech Tuesday and two House members hastened to take issue with him today.

Speaker Marion Crank of Little River County said he knew of no instance in which Croxton failed to get a chance to express himself on any pending legislation.

And Rep. G. D. Smith Jr., of Lincoln County said Croxton was "deflated because his (voter) registration bill didn't pass."

Croxton told a Little Rock civic club Tuesday that the only good thing about the 1963 session was that "a few bad bills failed to pass."

Both Croxton and Crank have been mentioned as possible gubernatorial candidates in 1964 if Gov. Orval E. Faubus does not seek a sixth term.

Appeal Delays Execution

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An appeal pending in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court at New Orleans may further delay the execution of Leslie Douglas Ashley, a female impersonator from Hot Springs, Ark., and Carolyn Ann Lima, his common-law wife.

The two are scheduled to die Friday in the electric chair at the Huntsville State Prison. They were convicted of the 1960 slaying of Houston real estate dealer Fred Tones during a sex party at Tones' office.

District Atty. Frank Briscoe asked the state Board of Pardons and Paroles Tuesday to postpone the execution 60 days because of the appeal.

The two originally were scheduled to die March 30, but were granted an indefinite stay four hours before the switch was to be pulled.

One of Life's Ordeals Is Relationship of Savers and Discarders of the World

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is the relationship between the savers and the discarders in this world of ours.

"Shall we keep it—or throw it away?" That is the question that divides them into two eternal enemy camps.

The saver is a human being who never wants to throw anything away because he may find a use for it later. The discarder is a human automaton who insists on throwing away everything except what he needs at the moment.

As they differ psychologically, so these two types tend to differ physically—and in their habits.

The saver, since he feels anything he comes across in life may have a future value, tends to a placid rotundity because it's against his nature to shed pounds.

His pockets are a biography of what has happened to him in the last few months.

They are stuffed with half-used match packets, old business cards, old sweepstakes tickets, photos of his children, photos of his friends' children, photos of strangers' children, invitations to weddings that already have ended in divorce, a summons to jury duty for a case long ago settled, ticket stubs for air trips taken weeks ago, last season's suburban rail timetable, and penciled memos to himself made illegible by fabric friction.

The discarder, on the other hand, tends to a nervous and intent slenderness because he sees no reason for carrying anything around he doesn't have to. His pockets are a kind of biography, too, but a slender one.

They contain a freshly fueled cigarette lighter, a clean handkerchief, several credit cards, an adequate supply of ready cash, his Social Security number, his home and business address, his blood type, and a notation saying that in case of accident not to give him penicillin as he is allergic to it.

The saver falls in love with and marries a girl after he finds out her father collected balls of string in his old age. The discarder won't marry a girl if she has anything cluttering her past except money in the bank.

When the discarder dies he leaves nothing but a paid-up $100,000 insurance policy which his widow uses to find another husband—and promptly forgets him.

When the saver dies, he leaves nothing but an attic full of useless hoarded junk, the happy debris of his passage. His widow may have to go to work to earn a

Parole in 963, Again Arrested

PIGGOTT, Ark. (AP)—Arthur Claburn Silas, 36, paroled earlier this year, was arrested Tuesday at Piggott in connection with the $4,000 burglary of a Foreman supermarket May 5.

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Little Rock FBI office, said Silas was charged May 17 at Ashdown with burglary and grand larceny. The Piggott store at Foreman was robbed of $1,700 in cash and $2,300 in negotiable checks, he said.

Silas was sentenced Sept. 1960 to the state penitentiary for possession and disposal of stolen goods in Clay County. Gov. Orval E. Faubus commuted his 10-year sentence to seven years on Jan. 14 this year and Silas was paroled in February.

African Bloodbath

LONDON (AP)—White-ruled South Africa and Southern Rhodesia are in for a bloodbath that may exceed the French Revolution unless they yield to black African demands. African nationalist Kenneth Kaunda warns.

Kaunda, chief minister of British-ruled Northern Rhodesia called on world leaders Monday to take economic sanctions against South Africa.

living, but she can always go up to the attic on rainy days and say:

"What a wonderful husband he was—he left so much for me to remember him by!"

Confidence Spreading in Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence is spreading as business heads for the summer months. And confidence can be as potent a force in its way as actual production and spending because confidence breeds more spending production.

The broadening of the upsurge of business activity—until recently dominated by gains in the auto and steel industries—is being hailed as the best assurance that the current upturn will be the longest since World War II.

New orders for metal-cutting machine tools hit a six-year high in April. The same month saw both factory orders and sales of durable goods setting records.

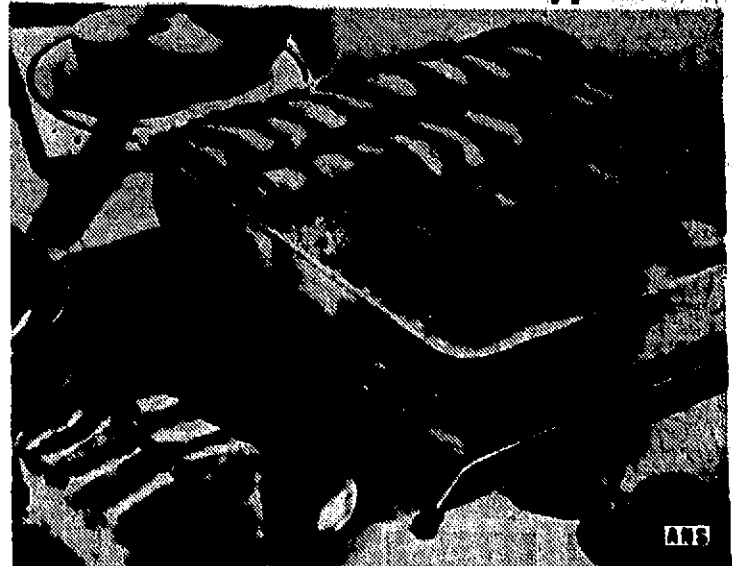

Steel production, still climbing, is now highest since March 1960. And hopes are spreading for a labor-management agreement on wage and fringe benefits soon.

Auto sales are so good that producers are beginning to talking hopefully of equaling or beating the 1955 record for annual sales.

Industrial production as a whole moved upward both in March and April and seems likely to have climbed still higher this month.

Consumer spending holds at top levels. Federal, state and local government purchases of goods

Go Dutch With Sour Cream Apple Cake

If "Dutch treat" entertaining is on your schedule, you will be wise to consider the appetizing apple cake pictured here. It has so much to recommend it... one-bowl mixing and an easy baked-on topping... which makes it such an accomplished traveler. The final test is in the eating, of course, and that is where this cake really scores high. Delicately tender with a spicy apple topping, you will want to serve it for all treats, not just the "Dutch" variety.

SOUR CREAM APPLE CAKE

Measure 2 cups sifted cake flour into sifter; add 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir ½ cup butter or other shortening until softened. Sift in the dry ingredients. Add ¾ cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix until all flour is dampened. Then BEAT 2 MINUTES at low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add 1 egg and BEAT 1 MINUTE longer or an additional 150 strokes. Pour into a greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 30 to 35 minutes, or until top springs back when lightly touched.

While cake is baking, peel and thinly slice 1 small tart apple. Combine with ½ cup sour cream, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. When cake is done, remove from oven (do not turn off heat). Carefully spoon sour cream mixture over top of hot cake, right in the pan. Peel and thinly slice 1 more small tart apple and arrange over topping. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer. Serve warm. Makes 9 servings.

French Horse Wins the English Derby

EPSOM, ENGLAND (AP)—French owned Relko today won the 184th running of the English Derby.

Relko, the French 2,000 Guineas winner, is owned by Francois Dupre of France.

Merchant Venturer, owned by Sir F. Robinson of England, was and services have increased at an annual rate of 8.5 per cent in the past year. And business spending is rising moderately.

But the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York says today in its May-June review that business spending seems "at least 10 per cent short of the investment rate which experience shows to be consistent with full prosperity."

"It seems 'an urgent need for action to spur investment by cutting taxes, controlling costs and bolstering confidence' still further."

And Lamont du Pont Copeland, Du Pont president, says the nation "must have a climate of encouragement for business" if the economy is to do any more than "run faster just to stand still."

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., reports "a notable blossoming of confidence in the district's business and banking communities, apparently part of a nationwide ground swell."

But the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, Mo., says that while "recent economic gains have been real" it isn't yet proved that "the economy has moved to significantly higher rates of resource utilization than during most of 1962."

The word is the same from most other sections of the land:

Business is generally better. Most industrial and trade leaders look for continued growth, with only a moderate letdown in the summer vacation period.

Ing Starts Serving His Prison Term

RENO, Nev. (AP)—James Burton Ing, 42, of Reno, was taken to Carson City Tuesday to begin serving a term in the Nevada State Prison, Sheriff C. W. (Bud) Young said.

Young said Arkansas authorities would probably place a hold order on Ing at the prison. Arkansas officers have sought Ing in connection with a kidnapping in late April.

A federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for kidnapping in Arkansas was dropped Monday.

Ing was sentenced last week to the state prison for terms of one to five years and one to two years on charges of second degree burglary and assault.

Ing interrupted his first degree burglary trial in its third day to plead guilty to the reduced charges. He had been accused in the burglary of a suburban Reno home last fall.

Three persons kidnapped a Little Rock, Ark., hospital clerk during an attempt to have police guards removed from the hospital room of James Dean Walker, 25, of Reno, Little Rock officers said.

Walker was held in the shooting of a North Little Rock Policeman. He was wounded in a gunfight.

second and Irish trained Ragusa came third.

The early leader was African Drum with Fern close behind, Hyacinthe third and Iron Peg a near fourth.

Ice Cream Sodas are C-O-O-L

In these days of home freezers and refrigerator freezing compartments, it's easy to keep ice cream and other ingredients on hand for all the makings of a perfect summer drink. Try this recipe for Coffee Ice Cream Soda... it takes just a few seconds to make, with flavorful instant decaffeinated coffee. You'll enjoy having this convenient instant coffee on hand to make other delicious coolers — coffee milk shakes, iced coffee — or a steaming cup of robust hot coffee.

COFFEE ICE CREAM SODA

8 teaspoons instant decaffeinated coffee
4 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1 bottle (7 ounces) club soda
Coffee ice cream

Dissolve instant coffee and sugar in milk in a tall glass, stirring vigorously. Stir in part of the soda. Allow foam to settle; then add 2 small (#24) scoops of ice cream. Gradually stir in remaining soda. Or, allow foam to settle, stir in remaining soda, and top with 1 large scoop ice cream. Makes 1 serving.
